

ABSTRACT

An inkjet manufacturing device 2 includes a discharger 10 for discharging a liquid material onto anything onto which the liquid material is to be discharged, a communication section 22 for transmitting and receiving data through a communication line, and a monitoring section 21 for monitoring the state of the discharger 10 and outputting data obtained by the monitoring through the communication section 22.